

Job Description

Head of Investor Acquisition

Head of Investor Acquisition would be responsible to lead Investor Acquisition Strategy, which at a high level includes Investor Acquisition, Investor Retention, Investor Development, Investor Experience, Investor Risk Appetite Strategy, Investor Education and Investor Value Management.

The Role holder would serve as an expert on development of long and short-range strategic investor acquisition plans for the company's growth.

The Role holder will be responsible for driving growth and revenue from investors across product lines. In addition to organic growth, this position will develop relationships with channel partners to meet investor acquisition targets as required. As a subject matter expert (SME) guides senior executives on the potential direction of growth markets.

- The role would be reporting directly to the CEO of Tougly.
- The jobholder would be responsible to setup and expand the team across country and in international markets.
- Engage with multiple stakeholders including Government, Channel Partners, Regulators and other internal teams.
- Work closely with operations & KYC team for smooth Investor onboarding.
- Responsible for market research, analysis and development of strategic insights based on environment/ country knowledge
- Develop creative, innovative business models and approaches that result in the capture of new business for Tougly.
- Ready to travel on need basis.
- Other tasks and duties as assigned by management.
- Assist in day-to-day operations of the office as required.
- Execute 'Special projects' as assigned.

All information provided will be checked and may be verified.

Experience/Skills Requires

- 5-10 years Progressive Experience in business development or sales in Financial Industry.
- MBA/Business Development graduation or post graduation degree.
- Understanding of supply chain and working capital.
- Understanding of existing financial instruments.
- Should already have a network of investors looking for short term investments
- Motivated, Self Start, Ready to work in startups, understands the opportunities and risk of startups